(Predominantly, 1946-1970)

351 linear feet
3 scrapbooks
1 card file

Accession Number 261

The papers of Walter P. Reuther were placed in the Archives of Labor and Urban Affairs in several installments between 1967 and 1981. The papers received in 1967 were made available for research in 1968. The entire collection, incorporating the previously opened material, was opened for research in May of 1980.

Walter P. Reuther was born in Wheeling, West Virginia on September 1, 1907, the son of an active unionist. He left high school at fifteen to become an apprentice toolmaker to help support his family. He moved to Detroit in 1926 and worked at the Briggs Manufacturing Company and the Ford Motor Company. During this period he completed his high school education and attended what is now Wayne State University for three years.

In 1933 he was dismissed by Ford, possibly as a result of his organizing activities. At that point he and his brother, Victor, withdrew their savings and embarked on a bicycle trip through Europe. The trip took them to the Soviet Union, where they worked at an automobile plant in Gorki, returning to the United States via the Far East in 1935.

In Detroit, Reuther became intensely involved in the newly-formed United Automobile Workers Union, founding and becoming the first president of the West Side Local 174, and at the 1936 convention he was elected to the International Executive Board. At the 1942 convention he was elected a vice president.

He was a leader with his brothers, Victor and Roy, in the General Motors sit-down strikes of 1936 and 1937. During an organizing campaign in 1937, he was beaten by Ford "service men" in an incident that came to be known as the "Battle of the Overpass." Early the next year he was the victim of an attempted kidnapping, also attributed to Ford "service men."

Reuther served as director of the General Motors Department of the UAW from 1939 to 1948. He also served as director of the Fair Practices and Anti-Discrimination Department, which was created in 1946 with William Oliver as co-director.

Even before the United States' entry into World War II, Reuther conceived the idea of mass production of military planes using automobile plant facilities. Despite initial opposition by industry, the "Reuther Plan," as it was known, was implemented once the country entered the war. During the war, he served on the War Manpower Commission and with the Office of Production Management.

At the war's end, Reuther demanded a wage increase in negotiations with General Motors, coupled with the stipulation that GM not pass the cost along to the consumer through increased prices which would erode the advantage gained for the workers and contribute to inflation. Reuther failed to commit GM to this principle despite a 113-day strike, but the confrontation established him as an innovative negotiator whose sights were set on broader goals than those of traditional unionists.

At the convention in March of 1946, after a bitter contest in which he took a strong anti-Communist position, Reuther was elected president of the UAW, an office he held until his death. Later that year, he was elected a vice president of the CIO. In 1948 he was again the victim of an physical attack. His assailant, who was never apprehended despite intense efforts by the UAW, severely damaged Reuther's right arm with a shotgun blast.

In 1952 Reuther succeeded Philip Murray as president of the CIO, and he led in efforts to merge the CIO and the AFL, which came about in December of 1955. He then became a vice president of the AFL-CIO and president of the Industrial Union Department. Disagreements over social issues, organizing unorganized workers, international labor and foreign policy, the Vietnam War and other matters, in which Reuther urged a more activist stance, led to the withdrawal of the UAW from the AFL-CIO in 1968. In 1969 the UAW formed the Alliance for Labor Action with the International Brotherhood of Teamsters in order to further some of the programs Reuther had advocated while in the AFL-CIO.

Under Reuther's leadership, the UAW gained for its members, among other collective bargaining breakthroughs, the guaranteed annual wage, supplemental unemployment benefits, cost-of-living escalator and annual improvement factor provisions, pension plans, health insurance for workers and their families and profit-sharing plans. During his twenty-four-year administration, the UAW established its identity as a powerful, well organized union, successful in protecting the rights and interests of its members, yet responsive to its social responsibilities.

Reuther saw that improved living conditions for workers could not be achieved solely at the bargaining table and, consequently, used his influence to further needed social reforms. Throughout his career he fought discrimination, and he was an active participant in the civil rights movement from its inception. In addition, he worked for improved housing, better education, medical care, consumer rights and environmental causes. He was also intensely interested in international affairs. He devoted considerable effort to working for peace and a strong United Nations organization, and he sought to create a structure of international labor organizations independent of Communist control.

He advocated union participation in the political process through political action committees, and under him, the UAW played a leading role in working for candidates sympathetic to their objectives. He also devoted much time to appearances before congressional committees to urge legislation favorable to labor and the social issues he championed. He served on numerous governmental panels studying such issues as atomic energy and technological change. He also worked energetically to better conditions in Detroit and Michigan, and in his last years, strove to effect urban reconciliation and remedy the causes of the 1967 Detroit riot.

Because of the prominent public role that he played, Reuther participated in an extraordinary number of organizations and was a friend and confidant of many of the most prominent individuals in the country in various spheres. He was recognized as an effective orator and he maintained a busy schedule of speaking appearances. During his lifetime he was the recipient of numerous awards and honorary degrees.

His career was cut short when he and his wife, May, who had shared in his beliefs and his work from the time of their marriage in 1936, were killed in the crash of a small plane while on their way to the UAW educational center at Black Lake, Michigan. They are survived by two daughters, Linda and Lisa.

The papers of Walter Reuther reflect his career with the UAW from its beginning, although the documentation for the pre-presidential period is less complete. In addition to UAW material, there are extensive files relating to his work as an officer of the CIO, the AFL-CIO and the ALA. In addition, there is considerable material relating to international labor organizations, international affairs, other labor unions, organizations of various kinds and his work in the area of public affairs.

In addition to this collection, other UAW collections at the Archives of Labor and Urban Affairs contain considerable information about Walter Reuther, notably those from departments headed by his brothers Victor and Roy, the UAW General Motors Department Collection, the UAW Secretary-Treasurer Collections of George Addes and Emil Mazey, the UAW Local 174 Collection and the UAW Fair Practices and Anti-Discrimination Collection.

Non-UAW collections providing information on Reuther are the Norbert Wiener Collection, the Citizens' Crusade Against Poverty Collection, the CIO Executive Board Minutes and Proceedings Collection and the CIO Washington Office Collection. The Archives also holds oral histories of May, Roy and Victor Reuther and many other UAW members and officials, which contain passages relating to the career of Walter Reuther.

Among the many published biographies of Reuther are The Brothers Reuther by Victor Reuther, Reuther by Frank Cormier and William J. Eaton, Walter Reuther and the Rise of the Auto Workers by John Barnard, Walter Reuther by Anthony Carew and The Most Dangerous Man in Detroit by Nelson Lichtenstein.

Contents

572 manuscript boxes
65 storage boxes
3 scrapbooks
1 card file

Series I, UAW Local 174, 1936-1939, Box 1:

Correspondence, minutes, notes and other materials relating to Reuther's presidency of Local 174. Files are fragmentary. Some relate to organizing, the Kelsey-Hayes sit-down and other strikes and to factionalism.

Series II, UAW International Headquarters Files, 1936-1946, Boxes 2-33:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports and other materials relating to Reuther's activities in various offices of the UAW prior to his election to the presidency of the union.

Subseries A: General Files, 1936-1946, Boxes 2-17:

Files relating to Reuther's work as an officer of the UAW prior to his assumption of the presidency. During this period he was a member of the International Executive Board, a vice president, headed the Skilled Trades Department and the War Manpower and Consumer's Department and was director of Region 1A. Files relate to conventions, war production, factionalism, and to specific locals and regions.

Subseries B: General Motors Department, 1936-1946,
Boxes 17-28:

Material relating to the General Motors Department which was established in 1938 and which Reuther headed from 1939 through 1948. Files document relations between the UAW and GM including negotiations, GM locals, war production, and the 1945-46 strike.

Subseries C: Government War Production Agencies,
1941-1945, Boxes 29-33:

Material reflecting Reuther's work as a representative of labor with the Office of Production Management and the War Manpower Commission during World War II and with other government agencies engaged in war production administration. Files relate to efforts to achieve maximum production and to secure a voice for labor in war production planning.

Series III, UAW President's Office and International Headquarters

Files, 1946-1970, Boxes 34-173:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports, minutes, and other material documenting the work of the President's Office during the administration of Walter Reuther. Files relate to an extensive range of subjects and include records from UAW conventions and the International Executive Board.

Series IV, UAW President's Office - General Correspondence,

1942-1970, Boxes 173-203:

Correspondence with UAW members, the general public, officials of other organizations and the government, prominent persons and personal acquaintances. It is mainly concerned with union matters, requests for help, requests for Reuther to serve on committees or for the UAW to lend support to institutions and causes.

Series V, UAW Regions, 1946-1970, Boxes 204-223:

Memoranda and correspondence between the President's Office and the UAW's regional offices and between the regional offices and local unions. Included are reports, notes, clippings and other related materials. Files have reference to constitutional questions, negotiations issues, jurisdictional disputes, organizing and strikes.

Series VI, UAW Local Unions, 1946-1970, Boxes 224-273:

President's office files concerning UAW local unions.

Subseries A: Revoked Bylaws, 1946-1970, Boxes 224-228:

Files of the revoked bylaws of UAW local unions.

Subseries B: Local Union Correspondence, 1946-1970,

Boxes 229-273:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports, investigations, contract agreements, legal papers and other items. This subseries reflects the interaction between local union leadership and the president and his staff. However, it also contains correspondence with regional headquarters and with individual members. Among the subjects covered are administratorships, appeals cases, clarifications of UAW policy and procedures, elections, strikes and problems of individual members.

Series VII, UAW Public Review Board, 1957-1970, Boxes 274-285:

Files of the Public Review Board which was created at the 16th Constitutional Convention of the UAW in April of 1957 with the stated purpose of insuring continued "high moral and ethical standards" in the administration of the union by further strengthening "the democratic processes and appeal procedures" as they affected individual members and subordinate bodies. The Board, composed of persons eminent in the fields of education, religion and the law, provided an impartial panel to which grievances could be appealed after the union's established procedures had been exhausted.

Subseries A: General Files, 1957-1970, Boxes 274-275:

Correspondence, reports and clippings relating to the establishment of the Board, financial aspects of its operation and to its members.

Subseries B: Decisions, 1957-1966, Box 276:

Summaries of decisions reached by the Board.

Subseries C: Case Files, 1957-1969, Boxes 277-285:

Files relating to cases #46 through #199, containing correspondence, grievance records, reports of investigations, testimony, clippings and a variety of material offered in evidence. In most instances these files document contacts between the appellants and the President's Office, action taken by the International Executive Board and final disposition by the Public Review Board. Because of the sensitive nature of some of these files, researchers wishing to examine them are required to first sign an Archives Restriction of Use Statement, which precludes the use of names and other personal information which could lead to the identification of individuals. These case files may not be photocopied.

Series VIII, CIO President, 1952-1955, Boxes 286-300, 1 Scrapbook:

Reuther's Detroit office files relating to his three-year presidency of the CIO.

Subseries A: Administrative and General Files, 1952-1955,

Boxes 286-291, 1 Scrapbook:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports and other items relating to administration of the CIO.

Subseries B: CIO Unions, 1952-1955, Boxes 291-293:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports and other material reflecting communication between the CIO and its affiliated unions. Files relate to organizing, jurisdictional problems and other matters.

Subseries C: International Affairs, 1952-1955, Boxes 293-294:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports and other material documenting the CIO's relationships with foreign unions and international labor organizations. Files relate to fostering international organization within the labor movement and eliminating Communist influence.

Subseries D: Correspondence, 1952-1955, Boxes 295-298:

Correspondence with other organizations, prominent individuals, government officials, and the general public.

Subseries E: AFL-CIO Merger, 1953-1955, Boxes 298-300:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports, and other material relating to the lengthy negotiations and arrangements which preceded the merger of the CIO with the AFL. Files also relate to no-raiding agreements, jurisdictional problems and opposition within the CIO to the merger.

Series IX, AFL-CIO Vice President, 1954-1968, Boxes 301-321:

Files reflecting Reuther's work as vice president of the AFL-CIO from 1955 until the disaffiliation of the UAW in 1968. This series is divided into the following subseries:

Subseries A: George Meany, President, 1955-1968,

Boxes 301-303:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports and other materials reflecting Meany's administration of the AFL-CIO. Much of the documentation relates to developing policy differences with Reuther leading to UAW disaffiliation.

Subseries B: William F. Schnitzler, Secretary-Treasurer, 1955-1968, Boxes 303-304:

Correspondence, reports and other material chiefly related to the administration of financial affairs.

Subseries C: Executive Council and General Board, 1955-1968, Boxes 304-309:

Agendas, resolutions, reports and other items documenting the actions of the Executive Council and the General Board.

Subseries D: Regions, Councils and Local Unions, 1954-1968,

Boxes 309-311:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports and other materials relating to Reuther's routine administrative contact with these entities and also to merger arrangements on the regional level.

Subseries E: General Files, 1954-1968, Boxes 312-321:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports, notes, pamphlets and other items relating to the operation of the AFL-CIO. These files reflect the interaction of Reuther and his staff with AFL-CIO departments, his work on committees and his records from conferences and conventions or they are related to specific topics.

Series X, IUD President, 1955-1968, Boxes 321-338:

Files relating to Reuther's work as President of the Industrial Union Department of the AFL-CIO, which incorporated industrial unions formerly in the CIO and the industrial membership of many unions previously affiliated with the AFL.

Subseries A: Executive Board and Executive Committee, 1956-1968, Boxes 321-324:

Transcripts of IUD Executive Board meetings plus agendas and some correspondence, notes and press releases. There is also correspondence and other material related to Executive Committee meetings.

Subseries B: Staff Members, 1955-1968, Boxes 325-329:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports, reference materials, notes and other items relating to the work of various executive officers of the IUD. There is information on IUD finances, jurisdictional problems, atomic energy, common site picketing and administrative matters.

Subseries C: General Files, 1955-1968, Boxes 329-338:

Correspondence, memoranda, convention materials, reports and other items relating to the operation of the IUD. There is information on building trades unions, common site picketing, the resolution of disputes arising between unions affiliated with the IUD and those affiliated with the Building and Construction Trades Department of the AFL-CIO, jurisdictional problems, organizing and other matters.

Series XI, Alliance for Labor Action, 1968-1970, Boxes 338-341:

Correspondence, notes, resolutions, press releases, publications and clippings relating to the ALA, which was formed by the UAW with the International Brotherhood of Teamsters in May of 1969. The ALA was dissolved in January of 1972. Files relate to the founding of the ALA and to plans for community action, improved housing, organizing unorganized workers, tax reform and to no-raiding agreements with AFL-CIO unions.

Series XII, Labor Organizations, 1946-1970, Boxes 341-365:

This series contains material relating to labor unions and organizations in the United States and Canada.

Subseries A: Labor Organizations (except IAM), 1947-1970,
Boxes 341-356:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports, publications, and other items relating to labor unions and labor associations with which Reuther dealt in an official capacity for the UAW, the CIO, the AFL-CIO and the ALA. Files relate to organizing, negotiations, strikes, jurisdictional problems and factionalism.

Subseries B: International Association of Machinists, 1946-1970, Boxes 356-365:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports, agreements and other items relating chiefly to jurisdictional disputes between the UAW and the IAM.

Series XIII, Government and Politics, 1943-1970, Boxes 366-437:

Files relating to Reuther's activities in the areas of government and politics, principally as President of the UAW, but also as an official of the CIO and the IUD.

Subseries A: Supreme Court, 1945-1970, Box 366:

Correspondence between Reuther and justices of the Supreme Court and material relating to Court appointments.

Subseries B: Executive Branch, 1946-1970, Boxes 366-408

1. Administrations, 1946-70, Boxes 366-370:

Correspondence, memoranda and other materials pertaining to administrations of Presidents Truman through Nixon and Reuther's relationships with the presidents, vice presidents and their families. Files relate to policy matters, social occasions and presidential memorials.

2. Departments and Agencies, 1946-70, Boxes 370-382:

Correspondence, memoranda, statements and other items relating to Reuther's work with various departments and agencies of the federal government. Files relate to government policies and regulations as they applied to the UAW; political, social and economic issues, government programs and foreign affairs.

3. Committees and Conferences, 1950-69,

Boxes 382-408:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports and other material relating to Reuther's participation, or that of his aides, in a large number of governmental committees, commissions, task forces, councils and White House conferences. Files cover a wide range of subjects including equal employment opportunity, labor-management policy, auto safety and technological change.

Subseries C: Congress, 1943-1970, Boxes 408-425:

1. Senate Correspondence, 1949-70, Boxes 408-411:

Correspondence regarding legislation, hearings, issues, etc.

Series II
UAW International Headquarters Files, 1936-1946
Boxes 2-33

Correspondence, memoranda, reports and a variety of other materials relating to Reuther's activities as an officer of the UAW prior to his election to the presidency. This series is divided into the following three subseries:

Subseries A: General Files, 1936-1946, Boxes 2-17:

Files relating to Reuther's work as a member of the International Executive Board to which he was elected in 1936 and as a vice president of the union, an office to which he was elected in 1942. During this period he also directed the Skilled Trades Department and Region 1A and headed the War Manpower and Consumer's Division. Files relate to a wide range of subjects, including conventions, war production and factionalism and contain information on specific locals and regions. Material is arranged alphabetically by subject.

Subseries B: General Motors Department, 1936-1946, Boxes 17-28:

Files of the General Motors Department, established in 1938, which Reuther directed from 1939 through 1948. This subseries contains a small amount of material relating to the period before the department was created and before Reuther became director. It documents the period of Reuther's administration until his election to the presidency of the union. Material relates to general UAW-GMC relations, GM locals, negotiations, war production and the 1945-46 strike. Files are arranged alphabetically by subject.

Subseries C: Government War Production Agencies, 1941-1945, Boxes 29-33:

Material relating to Reuther's work as a labor representative with the Office of Production Management and the War Manpower Commission during World War II. There is also material concerning other agencies involved in war production administration. These files deal with the interaction of the UAW with the government during the war and attempts to secure a greater voice for labor at the policy-making level. Material relating to war production can also be found in Subseries A and B. Files are arranged alphabetically by subject.

Series III
UAW President's Office and International Headquarters Files,
1946-1970
Boxes 34-173

Correspondence, memoranda, reports, minutes, publications, notes and a variety of other materials relating to the work of the President's Office during the administration of Walter Reuther. In a few instances, files contain items antedating Reuther's taking office in 1946.

This series documents the functioning of the various departments of the UAW, the affiliation of the UAW with the CIO and the AFL-CIO and negotiations with the major manufacturing firms whose employees the UAW represented. In addition, there are records of UAW conventions and the International Executive Board. Other files relate to specific companies or subjects or to special programs. Included are files relating to the Fair Employment Practices and Anti-Discrimination Department established in 1946, which Reuther co-directed with William Oliver.

Material related to that in this series can be found in the more specific series of this collection, such as Series VIII, CIO President, Series IX, AFL-CIO Vice President, and Series XVI, Speeches and Publications.

Files are arranged alphabetically by subject.

Notable among the many subjects documented in this series are:

Annual improvement factor	Supplemental unemployment benefits

Series IV
UAW President's Office - General Correspondence, 1942-1970
Boxes 173-203

Incoming correspondence and correspondence created by Walter Reuther and his staff. There are also memoranda, reports, reprints, brochures and other materials related to the correspondence.

This correspondence is with members of the UAW, the general public, officials of other organizations and the government, prominent persons and personal acquaintances. It is mainly devoted to union matters, such as interpretation of policy and requests for information or help from the president in resolving problems. However, a considerable portion also deals with requests for Reuther to serve on committees or for the UAW to lend support to institutions and causes. Much of the correspondence from the general public records reactions to his statements or to UAW policy.

This series is arranged in alphabetical groupings by the name of the individual or organization. Correspondence is filed chronologically within these divisions. Folders following each alphabetical section are devoted to individuals with whom Reuther had a sustained correspondence. There is a large section under "Universities and Professors" containing Reuther's correspondence with academic institutions and scholars. A few folders at the end of the series contain such material as Christmas cards and autograph requests.

This correspondence is dated predominantly from 1946 through May, 1970, with less volume for the years 1949 through 1959. A few items predate Reuther's tenure as president.

Series V
UAW Regions, 1946-1970
Boxes 204-223

Memoranda and correspondence exchanged between the UAW President's office and the union's regional offices. Also included are reports, notes, clippings and other related material. In addition, there are communications between the regional office and the local unions. This series documents the administration of the union on the regional level.

Files are arranged by region number and then chronologically. Documentation is somewhat less full for the period of the 1950s. Some regions were divided, discontinued or were redrawn geographically during the period covered. Such cases are Region , which was merged into Regions 1 and 1A in 1959 and then was reinstated by 1967, Region 1E, which was created in 1966, Regions 9 and 9A, which underwent a boundary revision in 1968, and Region 10, which elected its first director in 1949. In all instances, files will be found under the official region number for the year in question.

Important subjects covered in this series are:

- Community affairs
- Constitutional interpretations
- Contract negotiation issues
- Jurisdictional disputes
- Local union problems
- Organizing
- Personnel matters
- Political action
- Strike authorizations

Series VI
UAW Local Unions, 1946-1970
Boxes 224-273

This series is divided into the following two subseries:

Subseries A: Revoked Bylaws, Storage Boxes 224-228:

Files of revoked bylaws arranged by local union number. The region number is indicated in parentheses.

Subseries B: Local Union Correspondence, Storage Boxes 229-273:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports, investigations, contract agreements, legal papers, petitions and political literature. In large part, this subseries contains correspondence between the President's Office and local union officers, but there is also related correspondence with regional headquarters and correspondence with individual members. This series reflects the interaction between the local union leadership and the president and his staff in the administration of the union and the resolution of special problems. Files are arranged by local union number and then chronologically. In some instances, special subject files have been created where there is a large volume of related material.

Important subjects covered in this series are:

Administratorships of local unions
Appeal cases
Arbitration
Audit reports
Clarification of UAW procedures
Communism
Constitutional interpretations
Contract bargaining
Discrimination in employment: racial, religious, sexual
Dues and dues checkoff
Elections
Fines
Grievance procedures
Grievances
Jurisdictional disputes
Labor legislation
Lockouts
Open and closed shops
Organizing
Political factionalism
Retired workers
Strikes and work stoppages
Wages

Series VII
UAW Public Review Board 1957-1970
Boxes 274-285

The Public Review Board was created by constitutional amendment at the 16th Constitutional Convention of the UAW in April of 1957. Its stated purpose was to insure continued "high moral and ethical standards" in the administration of the union by further strengthening "the democratic processes and appeal procedures" as they affected individual members and subordinate bodies. The Public Review Board provided an impartial panel to which grievances could be appealed after the union's established procedures had been exhausted. The Board was composed of persons eminent in the fields of education, religion and the law.

This series is divided into the following three subseries:

Subseries A: General Files, 1957-1970, Boxes 274-275:

Correspondence, reports, clippings and articles. This subseries relates to the establishment of the Board, financial aspects of its operation and its members. Files are arranged alphabetically.

Subseries B: Decisions, 1957-1966, Box 276:

Summaries of decisions reached by the Board.

Subseries C: Case Files, 1957-1969, Storage Boxes 277-285:

These files relate to cases #46 through #199 and contain correspondence, grievance records, reports of investigations, testimony, clippings and a variety of material offered in evidence. In most instances these files document contact between the appellants and the President's Office, action taken by the International Executive Board, and final disposition by the Public Review Board. Files may also contain records dating back to the original filing of the grievance. Files are arranged by case number. The files for cases #186 and #195 are missing. Because of the sensitive nature of some of these files, researchers wishing to see them are required first to sign an Archives Restriction of Use Statement, which precludes the use of names and other personal information which could lead to the identification of individuals. These case files may not be photocopied.

Series VIII
CIO President, 1952-1955
Boxes 286-300
1 Oversize Scrapbook

Files which were maintained in Reuther's Detroit office relating to his work as President of the CIO from 1952 until 1955 and to the merger of the CIO and the AFL in 1955. Other files pertaining to the CIO, which date for the most part from an earlier period, can be found in Series II and III.

This series is divided into the following five subseries:

Subseries A: Administrative and General Files, Boxes 286-291, 1
oversize scrapbook:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports, convention materials, minutes and clippings relating to the administration of the CIO. A few items predate or postdate the period of Reuther's presidency. Files are arranged alphabetically.

Subseries B: CIO Unions, Boxes 291-293:

Correspondence between the CIO President's Office and the headquarters of unions affiliated with the CIO. There are also some reports, memoranda, official statements and clippings. These files relate to organizing, jurisdictional disputes and special problems of the affiliated unions, which were brought to the attention of the CIO. Files are arranged alphabetically by union name.

Subseries C: International Affairs, Boxes 293-294:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports, clippings and other items relating to the CIO's relationships with foreign unions and international labor organizations. Much of the correspondence is from Victor Reuther, who was the CIO's European representative. These files reflect the interest of the CIO in promoting contact with the labor movement outside the United States, fostering international cooperation among labor organizations and combating Communist influence on these groups. Files are arranged alphabetically.

Subseries D: Correspondence, Boxes 295-298:

Correspondence, much of it of a routine nature, with other organizations, prominent individuals, government officials and the public. Files are divided alphabetically and arranged chronologically. Where an extensive correspondence took place, a special file has been created. Correspondence relating to invitations is placed separately at the end of the subseries.

Subseries E: AFL-CIO Merger, Boxes 298-300:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports, statements, drafts, minutes, notes, clippings and publications relating to the lengthy negotiations and arrangements which preceded the merger of the AFL and the CIO in December of 1955. These files also relate to no-raiding agreements and violations, jurisdictional problems and opposition within the CIO to the merger plan. Files are arranged in a chronological sequence. Files relating to prominent labor officials who figured importantly in the merger will be found at the end of the subseries.

Series IX
AFL-CIO Vice President, 1954-1968
Boxes 301-321

Files reflecting Reuther's work as Vice President of the AFL-CIO and as a member of the Executive Council from the time of the merger of the CIO and the AFL in 1955 until the disaffiliation of the UAW in 1968. In a few instances items in files predate the merger. There is correspondence to and from Reuther in all of his official capacities during this period: UAW President, AFL-CIO Vice President and Executive Council member and IUD President. Most documentation relating to the IUD will be found in Series X. Other files relating to the AFL-CIO can be found in Series III.

This series is divided into the following five subseries:

Subseries A: George Meany, President, 1955-1968, Boxes 301-303:

Correspondence, memoranda, notes, reports, transcripts of testimony before Congress and press releases relating to President Meany's administration of the AFL-CIO. This documents the deterioration of the relationship between Meany as President of the AFL-CIO and Reuther as Vice President of the AFL-CIO and President of the UAW. Of particular interest in this regard are Reuther's typed notes recording meetings with Meany. Files are arranged chronologically.

Subseries B: William F. Schnitzler, Secretary-Treasurer, 1955-1968, Boxes 303-304:

Correspondence, reports and other items. These files relate to administrative matters, chiefly financial affairs. Files are arranged chronologically.

Subseries C: Executive Council and General Board, 1955-1968, Boxes 304-309:

Agendas, resolutions, reports, statements, correspondence, umpire decisions and press releases relating to the work of the Executive Council. There are also some minutes and other items from the General Board placed at the end of the subseries. Files are arranged chronologically.

Subseries D: Regions, Councils and Local Unions, 1954-1968, Boxes 309-311:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports and other materials exchanged between Reuther's office and AFL-CIO regions, councils and local unions. This subseries deals with routine administrative matters, specific problems referred to Reuther or his aides and to merger arrangements on the regional level. Files are arranged by state alphabetically.

Subseries E: General Files, 1954-1968, Boxes 312-321

Correspondence, memoranda, reports, notes, pamphlets, clippings and other items relating to the operation of the AFL-CIO. These files reflect the interaction of Reuther and his staff with AFL-CIO departments, his work on committees and his records from conferences and conventions, or they are related to specific topics. Files are arranged alphabetically.

Series X
IUD President, 1955-1968
Boxes 321-338

Files relating to Reuther's work as president of the Industrial Union Department of the AFL-CIO from the time of the merger of the AFL with the CIO in 1955 until the disaffiliation of the UAW in 1968. The IUD incorporated industrial unions formerly in the CIO and the industrial membership of many unions previously affiliated with the AFL. This series is divided into the following three subseries:

Subseries A: Executive Board and Executive Committee, 1956-1968,
Boxes 321-324:

Transcripts of IUD Executive Board meetings plus agendas and some correspondence, notes and press releases. In addition, there are correspondence, reports, press releases and other items relating to Executive Committee meetings. Files relating to the Executive Board precede those of the Executive Committee. They are arranged chronologically.

Subseries B: Staff Members, 1955-1968, Boxes 325-329:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports, reference materials, notes, clippings and other items relating to the work of the various executive officers of the IUD. This subseries contains information on IUD finances, jurisdictional problems, atomic energy and its hazards, common site picketing and administrative matters. Files are arranged alphabetically by name.

Subseries C: General Files, 1955-1968, Boxes 329-338:

Correspondence, memoranda, convention materials, reports, clippings and other items relating to the operation of the IUD. There is information on building trades unions, common site picketing, the resolution of disputes arising between unions affiliated with the IUD and those affiliated with the Building and Construction Trades Department of the AFL-CIO, jurisdictional problems, organizing, finances and ultraconservative groups. Files are arranged alphabetically.

Alliance for Labor Action 1968-1970
Boxes 338-341

Correspondence, notes, resolutions, press releases, publications and clippings relating to the Alliance for Labor Action which was formed by the UAW and the International Brotherhood of Teamsters in May of 1969, following the UAW's disaffiliation from the AFL-CIO. The International Chemical Workers Union and the National Council of Distributive Workers of America later joined the organization. The ALA was dissolved in January of 1972. These files relate to the founding of the ALA, to plans for community action, improved housing, organizing unorganized workers and tax reform, and to no-raiding agreements with AFL-CIO unions. Files are arranged alphabetically.

Series XII
Labor Organizations, 1946-1970
Boxes 341-365

This series relates to labor unions and organizations in the United States and Canada. For labor organizations in other countries, see Series XIV. The series is divided into the following two subseries:

Subseries A: Labor Organizations (except IAM), 1947-70, Boxes 341-356:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports, publications, clippings and other items relating to labor unions and labor associations with which Reuther dealt in an official capacity for the UAW, the CIO, the AFL-CIO and the ALA. These files relate to organizing, negotiations, strikes, jurisdictional problems and union internal disputes. Files are arranged alphabetically by the occupational designation in the union name.

Subseries B: International Association of Machinists, 1946-70, Boxes 356-365:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports, agreements, clippings and other items relating chiefly to jurisdictional disputes between the UAW and the IAM. The subseries begins with some general files of UAW-IAM no-raiding, agreements, correspondence and printed material. The balance of the subseries is made up of files arranged alphabetically by company name.

Series XIII
Government and Politics, 1943-1970
Boxes 366-437

Files relating to Reuther's activities in the areas of government and politics, principally as president of the UAW, but also before assuming that office and as president of the CIO and the IUD. Material dealing with government and politics can also be found in Series II, Subseries C, U.S. Government; Series VI, Speeches and Publications; and Series XVII, Subject Reference Files. This series is divided into the following five subseries:

Subseries A: Supreme Court, 1945-1970, Box 366:

Correspondence between Reuther and justices of the Supreme Court and also memoranda and press releases relating to UAW opposition to President Nixon's Supreme Court appointments.

Subseries B: Executive Branch, 1946-1970, Boxes 366-408:

1. Administrations, 1946-70, Boxes 366-370

Correspondence, memoranda, invitations, press releases, publications and clippings pertaining to the administrations of Presidents Truman through Nixon and Reuther's relationships with the presidents, vice presidents and their families. These files relate to policy matters, social affairs and establishment of presidential libraries and memorials. Files are arranged chronologically by administrations, with correspondence files placed first.

2. Departments and Agencies, 1946-1970, Boxes 370-382:

Correspondence, memoranda, statements, minutes, speeches, testimony, notes, clippings and other items relating to Reuther's work with various departments and agencies of the government. These files relate to government policies and regulations as they applied to the UAW; political, social, and economic issues; government programs; and foreign affairs. A large number of these files grouped under "defense" and "Wage Stabilization Board" concern the mobilization period during the Korean War. Files are arranged alphabetically by department or agency name.

3. Committees and Conferences, 1950-1969, Boxes 382-408:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports, drafts, notes, statements and a variety of reference materials relating to Reuther's participation, or that of his chief assistants, in a large number of governmental committees, commissions, task forces, councils, or in White House conferences. A wide range of subjects is covered, notably: equal employment opportunity, labor-management policy, auto safety, labor problems at missile sites, automation and technological change and attendant effects on labor and the economy and urban problems and housing. These files are predominantly from the 1960s when Reuther was most frequently called upon by these groups as a participant and advisor. Files are arranged alphabetically by the descriptive term in the group's designation.

Subseries C: Congress, 1943-1970, Boxes 408-425:

1. Senate Correspondence, 1949-70, Boxes 408-411

Correspondence between Reuther and U.S. senators regarding legislation, hearings, current issues, speaking engagements, appointments, political support and social matters. There is also a small quantity of related memoranda, clippings and Senate publications. General files are arranged chronologically, followed by separate files for senators with whom he had an extensive or significant correspondence. These are arranged alphabetically.

2. House of Representatives Correspondence, 1947-1970, Boxes 411-412:

Correspondence between Reuther and U.S. representatives regarding legislation, hearings, current issues, speaking engagements, appointments, political support and social matters. There is also a small quantity of related memoranda, clippings, and House publications. General files are arranged chronologically, followed by separate files for representatives with whom Reuther had an extensive or significant correspondence. These are arranged alphabetically.

3. Congressional Committees and Legislation, 1943-70, Boxes 412-425:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports, statements and testimony by Reuther and officers of the UAW and other unions, transcripts of hearings, reprints of bills, and a wide variety of materials related to the subjects of hearings and legislation. A great number of topics are covered pertaining to labor, social policy and foreign policy in which Reuther and the UAW took an active interest. The McClellan Committee hearings on Improper Activities in the Labor or Management Field are particularly well documented. Files are arranged alphabetically by subject, except for the first file which contains a listing of Reuther's appearances before congressional committees and summaries of proposed legislation.

Subseries D: State and Local Government and Politics, 1946-1970, Boxes 425-430:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports and clippings which relate to Reuther's interest in legislation, programs and politics on the state and local level. Some material on state campaigns can also be found in Subseries E. The 1958 California gubernatorial election is especially well documented as is Reuther's interest in improving conditions in Detroit. Files are arranged alphabetically by state.

Subseries E: Political Campaigns, 1946-1970, Boxes 430-437:

Correspondence, memoranda, notes, fliers and clippings relating to Reuther's participation in political campaigns chiefly on the national level. The 1968 Democratic Convention in Chicago is extensively documented. Files are arranged chronologically. A group of files relating to Democratic Party internal affairs is placed at the end of the subseries.

Series XIV
International Affairs, 1941-1970
Boxes 438-467

Files relating to Reuther's interest in fostering the formation of democratic international labor organizations and his contact with labor unions in other countries. This series also contains material relating to his work for peace and the solution of economic and social problems, the betterment of living and working conditions in Third World countries and his strong support for the United Nations. These files relate to the CIO and AFL-CIO as well as the UAW. This series contains correspondence throughout with his brother, Victor, who worked closely with him on international matters. Some files on organizations involved with international concerns can be found in Series XV.

This series is divided into the following four subseries:

Subseries A: International Labor Organizations, 1945-1969, Boxes 438-448:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports, minutes, and publications relating to UAW participation in international organizations and labor conferences. For the period that the UAW was affiliated with the CIO and the AFL-CIO, there is material dealing with their international labor policies. The role of the UAW in combating Communist influence in the world labor movement is well documented as is their active membership in the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions (ICFTU) and the International Metalworkers Federation (IMF). Files are arranged alphabetically by organization name.

Subseries B: Foreign Countries, 1941-1970, Boxes 448-462:

Correspondence, memoranda, reports, itineraries of Reuther's trips abroad, clippings and other items relating to foreign countries and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico. This material has to do with Reuther's official positions with the CIO and AFL-CIO as well as with the UAW. Most of the material concerns labor matters and organizations in the individual countries, but there is also considerable information on foreign policy concerns. A small amount of material predates Reuther's election to the presidency of the UAW. Files are arranged alphabetically by country. However, files relating to two multinational trips will be found at the end of the subseries.

Subseries C: International Conferences, 1962-1966, Box 463:

Correspondence, agendas, position papers and other items having to do with Reuther's participation in the Harpsund and Bilderberg Conferences. These conferences dealt with broad international economic and political problems as well as labor matters. Files are arranged alphabetically.

Subseries D: United Nations, 1947-1970, Boxes 463-467:

Correspondence, reports and publications regarding the United Nations and groups formed to further its programs. The UAW was an active supporter of the UN and participated in many of these groups. UN files are placed first, followed by those of the American Association for the UN and the US Committee for the UN which merged in 1964 into the UN Association of the USA, Inc. Files for other UN- related organizations follow, arranged alphabetically.

Series XV
Organizations, 1946-1970
Boxes 467-539

Correspondence, memoranda, reports and printed material relating to organizations with which Reuther had contact as President of the UAW and also, to a lesser degree, as an official of the CIO, the AFL-CIO and the ALA.

These groups are extremely diverse. Many have as their purpose improved health care, political and social reform, peace, civil rights for minority groups, enhanced community relations and consumer protection. There are also organizations of a charitable, religious, social, political, cultural, educational or testimonial nature. These files are predominantly from the period of the late 1950s and 1960s and reflect Reuther's particular concern with urban problems and housing and with the civil rights movement. The Community Health Association, the Metropolitan Detroit Citizens Development Authority, New Detroit, the Tractors for Freedom Committee and the Urban Coalition are particularly well documented.

Files are arranged alphabetically by organization name. Colleges and universities are grouped under the term "universities." A small group of general files is placed at the end of the series. Some material relating to organizations represented in this series will also be found in Series XVIII, Appointments and Invitations.

Series XVI
Speeches and Publications, 1933-1970
Boxes 539-573

This series contains the speeches and publications of Walter Reuther in addition to statements, interviews and press conference transcripts. There is also related correspondence and background reference material. Testimony and other public statements can be found in appropriate locations in other series. An index to speeches and publications will be found in the index section of this guide. This series is divided into the following three subseries:

Subseries A: Speeches, 1937-1970, Boxes 539-563:

Transcripts, drafts, notes and reference material for speeches and debates prepared by Reuther and his staff. The files often include correspondence relating to arrangements and information on the groups to be addressed. Some related records can be found in Series XV, Organizations or in Series XVIII, Appointments and Invitations. Files are arranged chronologically. Speeches for which there are only notes are placed at the end of each year's grouping. Where the exact dating is uncertain, notes have been placed at the latest estimated date.

Subseries B: Interviews and Press Conferences, 1949-1970, Boxes 563-564:

Transcripts, reprints and reports of interviews given by Reuther and press conferences held by him. There is also some correspondence relating to arrangements. Files are arranged chronologically. Occasional items in Subseries A are close to the interview format and one interview can be found with the peace-related material in Box 568.

Subseries C: Publications, 1933-1970, Boxes 565-573:

Drafts and published versions of pamphlets and magazine and newspaper articles written by Reuther and his collaborators. Also included are several drafts of a book manuscript on the subject of peace. Files also contain correspondence, notes and background material and clippings. Files are arranged chronologically with the exception of Reuther's writings on peace dating from 1950 to 1968, which have been placed together at the end of the subseries, since they are closely related and represent a continuous development of his ideas on the subject.

Series XIX
Biographical Files, 1936-1970
Boxes 616-638
2 Oversize Scrapbooks
1 Card File

This series is divided into the following three subseries:

Subseries A: Biographical Material, 1938-1970, Boxes 616-626,
Scrapbook:

Correspondence, drafts of biographies, reports and clippings. These files relate to awards, degrees conferred on Reuther, physical attacks made on him and subsequent litigation and books written about him and his career. Files are arranged chronologically. Clippings regarding him, arranged chronologically, are placed at the end of the subseries.

Subseries B: Reuther Labor Foundation, 1951-1970, Boxes 627-630:
Correspondence and financial and legal records of the foundation established by the Reuthers to use fees collected from such sources as speaking engagements and donations to support labor causes.
Files are arranged alphabetically.

Subseries C: Death of Walter and May Reuther, 1970, Boxes 630-638,
Scrapbook, Card File:

Condolence messages, funeral arrangements and clippings relating to the deaths of the Reuthers in a plane accident on May 9, 1970. Clippings and files of funeral invitations are placed first followed by condolence messages and cards, many of which were placed in binders, and bound funeral registers. There is also an index file to condolence messages and a scrapbook containing resolutions passed by many groups in Reuther's memory.
