The Papers of the Miners for Democracy were placed in the Archives of Labor History and Urban Affairs in February of 1973 by the Miners for Democracy through Clarice Feldman and were opened for research in December of 1973. Additional papers were added to the collection in 1989.

The Miners for Democracy was organized in April of 1970, four months after Joseph "Jock" Yablonski's murder and four months after his unsuccessful campaign against W.A. "Tony" Boyle for the presidency of the United Mine Workers of America. The MFD's express purpose was to reform the UMWA from within.

The Lawyers representing the MFD were members of a public interest law firm known as the Washington Research Project, Miners Project. They were Joseph "Chip" Yablonski (Jock's son), Clarice Feldman, Dan Edelman and, as outside counsel, Joseph L. Rauh, Jr. (Mr. Rauh served as Jock Yablonski's advisor and chief counsel during the 1969 election campaign).

During the 1969 campaign, Yablonski, through Rauh, entered numerous complaints of unfair practices against the UMWA with Secretary of Labor George Shultz. But it was not until after Yablonski's murder that the Department of Labor filed suit against the UMWA, in March 1970, to overturn the election because of violations of the Landrum-Griffin Act (the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act of 1959). Although the MFD was not allowed to intervene in the case until January 1972 (by a Supreme Court Decision), they aided the Department of Labor in its investigation and preparation for the trial and worked on their own arguments for voiding the election.

In June 1972, the 1969 election was overturned and a new election ordered. The MFD ran a slate of candidates against the Boyle slate and won: Arnold Miller, president; Mike Trbovich (Jock Yablonski's campaign manager and first National Chairman of the MFD) vice-president; Harry Patrick, secretary-treasurer.

The MFD also worked for reform of the UMWA's pension funds, coal miners health and safety, and autonomy for UMYM districts. The Papers of the MFD reflect the organization's concerns over issues central to the coalmining industry and their attempts to make changes through court actions and elections.

Series I
Boxes 1-22,

This series is concerned with Civil Action #662-70 or the "Election Suit." It was brought by the Department of Labor against the UMWA following the 1969 UMWA election. In this action the plaintiff is the Department of Labor, the defendant is the UMWA, and the intervenor is the MFD. Intervention by the MFD was not allowed until a Supreme Court decision in January 1972. The case begins with the Department of Labor's first complaint against the UMWA in March 1970 and ends with Judge Bryant's decision in June 1972 ordering a new election. The series is divided into 7 sub-series.

Sub-series 1, Boxes 1-6

These are pre-trial depositions of UMWA officials and others taken by the Department of Labor in 1971. The MFD was not yet allowed to intervene and thus played no part in taking the depositions. The depositions are filed alphabetically.

Sub-series 2, Boxes 7-13

These are the transcripts of the trial arranged chronologically. Following the court's order, a few matters remained to be cleared up. These post-decision transcripts follow the trial transcripts. There is also a card file index to individuals' testimony.

Sub-series 3, Boxes 14-15

This is a very incomplete set of the exhibits presented in the case.

Sub-series 4, Boxes 16-18

This sub-series contains the briefs, memoranda, interrogatories, motions, orders, etc. filed by the parties to the suit. They are arranged chronologically.

Sub-series 5, Boxes 18-19

The MFD was finally allowed to intervene in the "Election Suit" by the Supreme Court. This sub-series contains the briefs and correspondence of their attempts to intervene with the District Court, the Court of Appeals, and the Supreme Court.

Sub-series 6, Box 19

These are post-decision briefs, motions, orders, and correspondence.

Sub-series 7, Boxes 20-22

This sub-series contains correspondence, lists, indexes, research materials, and data used by the MFD in their trial preparation.

Series III
Boxes 26-28

During the 1969 election campaign four suits (the "Pre-election Cases") were initiated by Yablonski against the UMWA. The "Election Case" charged the UMWA with unfair election practices. The "Journal Case" charged unfair use of the UMWA Journal. The "Mailing Case" charged that the membership lists given Yablonski by the UMWA were inadequate. And, the "Reprisal Case" charged that Yablonski had been fired by Boyle from his position as Acting Director of Labor's Non-Partisan League because of his candidacy against Boyle. This series covers 1961-71. It contains briefs, motions, correspondence, and reference materials.

Series V
Boxes 41-43

After the Yablonski murders, the Senate Subcommittee on Labor began hearings on the UMWA. The hearings began in February 1970 with an investigation into the 1969 election. The Subcommittee also heard testimony on the health and safety of coal mining and on the UMWA's pension funds. This series contains the transcripts of some hearings, statements of individuals before the Subcommittee, and correspondence. It covers 1969-72.

Series VII
Boxes 52-62

This series deals with other legal proceedings that the MFD was either a party to or interested in. The series is divided into 7 sub-series. (Note that case numbers change as the suit goes into appeal proceedings. Also, sometimes the heading will change as parties enter or drop out of cases.)

Sub-series 1, Boxes 52-53

Known as the "501 Suit" or the "Bogus Locals Suit," this suit charges Boyle and other UMWA officials with fraud, corruption, and misuse of union funds and also charges that local unions with less than 10 working members must be disbanded. Also, a part of this case was the MFD charge that Edward Carey, the UMWA General Counsel, should be disqualified because he was attempting to serve both the union and the individual indicted officers. The sub-series contains chronologically filed legal documents and correspondence for 1970-72.

Sub-series 2, Boxes 53-56

These are a group of legal actions brought against UMWA District 5 and/or its officers. The "Convention Suit" is an attempt to overturn District 5's 1970 Convention because of bogus locals and to prevent absentee balloting. Next are three "Reprisal Cases." These arose out of disciplinary actions taken against MFD members because of their activities during the 1970 election in District 5. Next is a suit to audit District 5's financial records - the "Title II Suit." Following these suits are a couple between District 5 and the Department of Labor. At the end of the sub-series is some general reference material on District 5. The legal documents, correspondence, notes, and reference material are chronologically filed within each case.

Sub-series 3, Box 56

Many districts of the UMWA have lost their independence to the International - their presidents are appointed and their funds dispersed by Washington. The suits in this sub-series are attempts to achieve autonomy for the districts. The legal documents are arranged chronologically within each case and cover 1964-72.

Sub-series 4, Boxes 57-58

These cases are all related to miners' efforts to obtain or increase their pensions. In some cases the UMWA is sued, in others, the coal companies. The legal documents are arranged chronologically and cover 1969-72.

-22-

Sub-series 5, Boxes 58-61

These cases arose when miners, mostly around Pittsburgh, staged walkouts because of inadequate safety procedures in the mines. The legal documents are arranged chronologically within each case and cover 1970-73.

Sub-series 6, Boxes 61-62

The MFD defines itself as a reform group within the UMWA. However, the UMWA attempted to discipline members of the MFD for starting a dual union. So arose the "Dual Unionism Case," 1971-72. During the nomination and campaign period of 1972, Boyle announced that the password to enter union meetings was "Loyal to Boyle." The "Password Case" was initiated. These legal documents are filed chronologically.

Sub-series 7, Box 62

These are miscellaneous cases covering 1966-72, filed by case and then chronologically.

Series XV
Boxes 108-110

Series XV consists of the weekly news clippings of events in the UMWA, the MFD and all other events of direct consequence to the mining industry from 1952 through 1972. The clippings reflect mainly the fight between the MFD and the UMWA to gain control of the leadership of the UMWA through court actions and the election campaigns of 1969 and 1972. These clippings are arranged by year and by week, with 1969 most heavily represented.
