The papers of the Labor Committee for Safe Energy and Full Employment were placed in the Archives of Labor and Urban Affairs in April of 1981 by Mr. Fred Halstead and were opened for research in November of 1985.

The Labor Committee for Safe Energy and Full Employment is a coalition of labor unions opposed to the expansion of the nuclear energy industry. It was founded, in part, in reaction of the Three Mile Island nuclear accident which occurred near Harrisburg, Pennsylvania in March of 1979. The Committee took the position that the production of nuclear energy was not only hazardous union workers engaged in the production of conventional fuels.

The papers of the Labor Committee fo Safe Energy and Full Employment consist primarily of announcements, clippings, and correspondence relating to the Committee's promotion of a protest march scheduled for March 28, 1981, the second anniversary of the Three Mile Island accident.
