METROPOLITAN DETROIT COUNCIL OF CHURCHES

14 MSS Boxes

Accession Number 319

The papers of The Metropolitan Detroit Council of Churches were deposited with the Labor History Archives in Oct. of 1968 by John Forsyth.

Organized in 1919 to meet the growing spiritual, moral, and social needs of this great metropolitan area, the Detroit Council of Churches has developed steadily in influence and in diversification of activities .... It is the channel through which the churches do together all those things which can be done most effectively through united action.

Currently the Council represents more than 800 churches affiliated with 31 Protestant and Eastern Orthodox denominations from Wayne, Oakland, and Macomb counties. It is an active constituent of the Michigan and of the National Councils of Churches.

Within the last twenty years, the council's budget has increased over five fold because of the developing departments of strategy and planning, radio and television, family life, institutional ministries, public information, race and cultural relations, United Church men, faith and order, and the General Board of United Church women. The council has expanded widely in the area of social services, both in its own right, through semi-independent service arms such as Protestant Community services, and with such independent agencies as the Knights Templar assisting in Big Brother and Sister programs.

METROPOLITAN DETROIT COUNCIL OF CHURCHES

Description

- Series I -                      Box 1
- National Council of Churches, agencies dealing with current social concerns, correspondence, minutes reports, chronologically arranged by agency. 1955-1963. See also later series for NCC Topics.
- Series II -                      Box 2
- Michigan Council of Churches General Business and education departments, correspondence, minutes, reports chronologically arranged by agency. 1957-1963.
- Series III -                      Boxes 3-4
- Metropolitan Detroit Council of Churches general office and agency files, correspondence, minutes, reports chronologically arranged by agency. 1956-1965.
- Series IV -                      Boxes 4-7
- Religious Education. Chronologically arranged by agency and function, in general office files, leadership training schools, and standing committees, minute books, minutes, correspondence, 1922-1964. Followed by a sub-series including misc. topics arranged alphabetically.
- Series V -                      Boxes 8-10
- Public Affairs Department, general office files. Especially tracing the development of agencies concerned with the relation of the church and civil liberties. All agencies are related in an evolutionary manner. While not all these agencies were directly subordinated to the public affairs, the recently instituted division of mission does comprehend these functions. Correspondence, minutes, press releases, arranged chronologically by agency 1950-1967.
- Sub-Series. Topics and agencies related to the above series, especially concerned with civil liberties and housing. Alphabetically arranged.
