HYMN TO WAYNE

To thee, our Alma Mater,
Homage we bring.
Brave hearts raise grateful voices
Thy praise to sing.
Young art thou, young and strong;
Renowned shalt thou live, and long;
Honors to thee will throng—
And Fame to thee cling.

We laud thee, Alma Mater,
Guardian of Right.
Thou art our guide, our mentor—
Thy name shines bright.
Keep Learning's light aflame,
And hold Truth a sacred name,
Honor, thy steadfast aim.
All hail to thy might!

DOCTOR OF ENGINEERING

LLOYD VIEL BERKNER

B.S.

Escort: Dr. J. Russell Bright

Lloyd Viel Berkner, scientist, administrator, public servant, holder of high office in national and international organizations of scientists, has promoted the causes of science in relation to the deep needs of mankind.

He has served his country in many capacities through his long and distinguished career. He has represented the United States as head of delegations to international assemblies of scientists. He has given his counsel as consultant, advisory board member, and administrator. He has been a member of international committees and president of the International Council of Scientific Unions. His role has been a truly important one in the development of this nation’s atomic energy program.

As a geo-physicist, he has been a major part in research and development in radio wave propagation, structure of the high upper atmosphere, ionization measurements of the ionosphere, relation of the upper atmospheric ionization to terrestrial magnetism, aviation radio, solar phenomena, and solar-terrestrial relationships.

Wayne State University honors Lloyd Viel Berkner for his dedicated life and great works, for his major contributions as consultant to the Federal government, for his vision and enthusiasm, for his encouragement of scientists, and for his administrative skill in science programs.

DOCTOR OF HUMANITIES

BERNARD ROGERS

Escort: Dr. Ruth S. Wylie

Bernard Rogers, distinguished American composer of superbly crafted, cleanly articulate, and enduringly significant music has, through his critical acumen, his creative generosity and his devotion to artistic integrity, inspired and enriched hundreds of younger composers many of whom have themselves achieved distinction.

In a long and productive career as Professor of Composition at the Eastman School of Music he has dedicated himself to the ideals of creative honesty and technical perfection as work after work took shape under his pen and composer after composer took substance from his mind and heart.

While eschewing with bitter wit the lure of the market place and the cult of the limelight, he has gained fame slowly as his major works gradually achieved the stature of acknowledged masterpieces. His great opera The Warrior, the profoundly moving Passion, the delicately appealing Five Fairy Tales, the enchanting music to Pinocchio and an unceasing succession of other fine works in all media have earned him a prominent place in the front rank of American composers and he enjoys the deep personal esteem of his students and colleagues everywhere.

Wayne State University recognizes the genius of Bernard Rogers and honors him for his creative achievements, for his nobility of spirit, and for the integrity and artistry of his teaching.

DOCTOR OF LAWS

FERENC ALBERT VÁLI
D. Jur., Ph.D.
Escort: Dean Victor A. Rapport

Ferenc Albert Váli, distinguished professor of international law in European and American universities, has given to the free world the devoted service of scholar and patriot. His writings over a period of thirty-five years have contributed greatly to the development of the critically important field of international law and laid the foundations for his recent book on the background and events of the Hungarian revolt of 1956. His long and productive career has been marked by a series of highly significant assignments all of which were performed by him in a characteristically brilliant fashion.

To the Hungarian Freedom Fighters he gave inspiration and leadership and to the brave people who remain in Hungary behind the Iron Curtain he stands as a symbol of the desire of all peoples to have a government of their own choosing. Through his teaching in this country, his adopted land, he sets an example for those who work for freedom and homeland. With fortitude, liveliness, intellect, and integrity, Ferenc Váli has withstood experiences which would have broken a lesser man.

Wayne State University honors him as a patriot-scholar whose service is to the whole world.

DOCTOR OF SCIENCE

MARGARET ARNSTEIN
A.B., R.N., A.M.
Escort: Dean Katharine E. Faville

Margaret Arnstein, fortunate to be born a member of a family distinguished for outstanding community service and for deep concern for the less fortunate, has carried on the family traditions throughout her career in nursing and public health.

During her years of professional practice, here and abroad, she has worked for the improvement of nursing education and nursing service. She has discharged with distinction many responsible assignments with the United States Public Health Service, with the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration and with the World Health Organization. She now administers the broad range of nursing services of the Federal Public Health Service.

Her advice today is sought by workers from the many health and welfare disciplines because of her recognized integrity, her fearless convictions, her broad vision, and her respect for scientific knowledge honestly applied. To all who turn to her, she evidences her keen desire that public health be wisely administered for the common good.

Wayne State University honors Margaret Arnstein who, through years of professional service, has given leadership of high order and who to an unusual degree, has earned the respect and affection of those who have been privileged to work with her.

This practice is not observed in the College of Education or at the Graduate level.

ON CAPS, GOWNS, AND HOODS

One of the most colorful features of an academic procession is the appearance of the graduates, the faculty, members of the governing board, and guests of the University in fully academic costume. These caps, gowns, and hoods have long histories and their patterns and colors have special significance.

The gown recalls the time when all students in centers of higher learning were clerics, that is, members of the clergy, and therefore wore the garments which the Church considered proper for them.

The custom of wearing a cap comes from the Roman usage of conferring the right to wear a cap upon slaves when they were granted their freedom. At Scottish universities, such as St. Andrews, doctors are created by a ceremony called “capping” in which a cap is placed on their heads.

In modern universities, the distinctive mark of a degree is the hood. In its earliest form, the hood was simply an article of wearing apparel. The churches and lecture halls of European universities were cold, drafty places, so scholars wore hoods merely as head coverings, sometimes attached to a cape, sometimes worn separately.

American universities, unlike those of England and Europe, have adopted a standard code of academic costume. The cut and material of the gown, the color of the tassel on the cap, and the pattern and colors of the hood all have special significance.

Each person who is to receive a degree wears the gown appropriate to the degree to be granted. If he already holds a degree, he wears the hood of that degree, not the one he is to receive.

Bachelors’ gowns are closed at the throat and have long, pointed sleeves. Masters’ gowns are open in the front and have long sleeves, square and closed at the end, the arms coming through slits near the elbow. Doctors’ gowns are faced with velvet and have full, round sleeves. Each sleeve carries three bars of velvet, called chevrons.

The most colorful part of the costume is the hood. The color of the lining identifies the university which granted the highest degree held by the wearer. The color of the velvet trim indicates the faculty or department of learning in which the degree was earned.

The following table lists the color appropriate to each of the different branches of learning:

HYMN TO WAYNE

To thee, our Alma Mater,
Homage we bring.
Brave hearts raise grateful voices
   Thy praise to sing.
Young art thou, young and strong;
Renowned shalt thou live, and long;
Honors to thee will throng—
   And Fame to thee cling.

We laud thee, Alma Mater,
Guardian of Right.
Thou art our guide, our mentor—
   Thy name shines bright.
Keep Learning's light aflame,
And hold Truth a sacred name,
Honor, thy steadfast aim.
   All hail to thy might!

DOCTOR OF HUMANE LETTERS

NELSON GLUECK

B.H., A.B., Ph.D.

Escort: Professor Donald H. Gordon

Nelson Glueck, President of Hebrew Union College - Jewish Institute of Religion, Professor of Bible and Biblical Archaeology, in his brilliant career as world renowned archaeologist, distinguished author and respected teacher, has joined scientific pioneering, Biblical scholarship and administrative talent.

Educated both in the United States and in Europe, he has given widely of his wisdom and understanding and has brought his great scholarship to the service of institutions of learning at home and abroad.

His explorations, throughout the Biblical lands, have often been undertaken in circumstances of physical danger and have always called upon the reserves of physical strength for which he is well known.

He has served his country in two world wars. He has served his science in the value of his discoveries, his religion by the training of its leaders, his fellowmen by the sum of these.

Wayne State University proudly honors Nelson Glueck for his great contributions to the enrichment of modern life through the fostering of an ancient tradition and the uncovering of an ancient culture.

DOCTOR OF LAWS

LOY WESLEY HENDERSON

A.B., D.P.S., D.P.A., LL.D.

Escort: Dean Victor A. Rapport

Loy Wesley Henderson, present Dean of the Center of Diplomacy and Foreign Relations of Americas University, devoted public servant, in the course of forty years of duty with the United States Department of State, has contributed immeasurably to the finer development of that most important arm of the Federal Service. He has been successively Director of the Department's Near Eastern and African Affairs, Ambassador to India and Minister to Nepal, Ambassador to Iran, and Deputy Under-Secretary of State for Administration with the permanent rank of Career Ambassador. For his long and distinguished service, he has been honored by his country with the President's Award for Distinguished Federal Civilian Service and by foreign countries including Iran whose Insinia of Honayoun, First Rank, has been bestowed upon him.

To the increasing struggle for international justice, Loy Henderson has brought clear understanding and quiet determination. He has said, "Hatreds and resentments are much easier to kindle than they are to extinguish," and "Even the most noble objectives may be debased by the employment of ignoble efforts in the endeavor to achieve them."

With appreciation of the importance to the Department of State of multi-lingual communication, he instituted language training in the preparation of the consular corps, and made fluency in a foreign language a requisite to appointment.

Wayne State University salutes Loy Wesley Henderson for his great contributions to the constant search for "international confidence and amity."

*In the several colleges and schools of the University where it is customary to recognize outstanding achievement with special notice, an asterisk before a candidate's name denotes attainment of a high scholastic average. The official list of graduates cited for "distinction" or "high distinction" will be compiled subsequently and their diplomas will carry the appropriate notation. This practice is not observed in the College of Education or at the Graduate level.

ON CAPS, GOWNS, AND HOODS

One of the most colorful features of an academic procession is the appearance of the graduates, the faculty, members of the governing board, and guests of the University in fully academic costume. These caps, gowns, and hoods have long histories and their patterns and colors have special significance.

The gown recalls the time when all students in centers of higher learning were clerics, that is, members of the clergy, and therefore wore the garments which the Church considered proper for them.

The custom of wearing a cap comes from the Roman usage of conferring the right to wear a cap upon slaves when they were granted their freedom. At Scottish universities, such as St. Andrews, doctors are created by a ceremony called “capping” in which a cap is placed on their heads.

In modern universities, the distinctive mark of a degree is the hood. In its earliest form, the hood was simply an article of wearing apparel. The churches and lecture halls of European universities were cold, drafty places, so scholars wore hoods merely as head coverings, sometimes attached to a cape, sometimes worn separately.

American universities, unlike those of England and Europe, have adopted a standard code of academic costume. The cut and material of the gown, the color of the tassel on the cap, and the pattern and colors of the hood all have special significance.

Each person who is to receive a degree wears the gown appropriate to the degree to be granted. If he already holds a degree, he wears the hood of that degree, not the one he is to receive.

Bachelors’ gowns are closed at the throat and have long, pointed sleeves. Masters’ gowns are open in the front and have long sleeves, square and closed at the end, the arms coming through slits near the elbow. Doctors’ gowns are faced with velvet and have full, round sleeves. Each sleeve carries three bars of velvet, called chevrons.

The most colorful part of the costume is the hood. The color of the lining identifies the university which granted the highest degree held by the wearer. The color of the velvet trim indicates the faculty or department of learning in which the degree was earned.

The following table lists the color appropriate to each of the different branches of learning.
