In 1916, a handful of teachers met outside of Chicago to discuss the formation of the American Federation of Teachers (AFT) . What brought them together was the belief that they needed a new national organization that would be committed to their professional interests, would benefit the people they served, and would work to create strong local unions affiliated with the American labor movement. From this foundation, the AFT has grown into a trade union representing workers in education, health care, and public service.

The records of the AFT's office of the President Collection consist of minutes, correspondence, reports, publications and other materials documenting the union's activities in organizing and servicing affiliates, improving teaching conditions and influencing legislation affecting education and social issue during the presidencies of Charles Cogen and David Selden.

Abstract:

These papers represent the presidency of David Selden, 1968-1974 during a tremendous growth as well as philosophical change in the AFT. Part II has information about this growth internally and externally, the social issues of the day and how it effected teachers as well as the labor movement. There is great amount of information on organizing non-public school, especially parochial schools; the merger talks with the NEA and the teacher unity caucus; and freedom of speech issues for teachers in the Pickering files. Part II also has more information about busing and desegregation, the battles between the AFT and AFSCME as well as the internal issues facing the AFT with growth, power and issues that it had to face over Vietnam and democracy within the union.

Provenance:

Part II are papers that were located while the AFT President's Office: Albert Shanker was being processed.

Organization:

Organized into five series: I. American Federation of Teachers; II. Congressional and Government Correspondence and Testimony; III. National Education Association; IV. Publishers and Publications Correspondence; V. Subjects.

Arrangement:

This collection is arranged into five series. Series I, III, IV, V are arranged alphabetically. Series II is arranged chronologically.

Scope Content:Series I: AFT, 1963-1974. Boxes 1-2

AFT records are a variety of materials related to the operation of the AFT. The series consists of correspondence, reports, memos, clippings, etc. There is a substantial amount of information on the AFT's organizing especially with non-public schools. The CNR Miesan files is a grievance filed by Mr. Miesan against the AFT, Miesan ran for president of the AFT in 1970s violating his contract with the AFT, which states that employees cannot participate in AFT politics and subsequently he was fired. Pickering correspondence relate to a three and a half year old court battle that ended in the US Supreme Court concerning freedom of speech by schoolteachers.

Series II: Congressional and Government Correspondence and Testimony, 1965-1974. Box 2

This series contains testimony that Selden gave in front of various congressional committees. They're some correspondence with legislators. The testimony is mostly about funding of public education, labor law reform, the appointment of Sidney Marland to the post of U.S. Commissioner of Education, the San Francisco State college strike and busing.

Series III: National Education Association, 1968-1974. Box 3

NEA series contains correspondence, clippings, and reports with and about the NEA. Considerable effort was made by the AFT in researching the NEA under the files Jim Lerman Project. Merger files contain information on the national merger negotiations with the NEA and the AFT, and correspondence with locals are mostly about merging on the local level.

Series IV: Publishers and Publications Correspondence, 1967-1974 Box 3-4

Series IV contains correspondence and clippings from newspapers and journals. The correspondences are usually responses to articles about teachers unions. There is information on Selden's pitch to publish books as well as the lawsuit against Simon and Schuster for publishing "Teachers and Power" by Robert Braun.

Series V: Subjects, 1967-1974. Box 4-5

Subject series are correspondence, reports, clippings and other materials dealing with the subject file. Of note are the files that deal with AFSCME and the AFL-CIO.
