The papers of George Clifton Edwards, Jr. were placed in the Archives of Labor and Urban Affairs in 1962, 1968, and 1973 by Judge Edwards and opened for research in May of 1992.

George Clifton Edwards, Jr. was born in Dallas, Texas in 1914 to George Clifton Edwards, a Dallas attorney and socialist, and Octavia Nichols Edwards, an educator.

He received his B.A. from Southern Methodist University in 1933 and then attended Harvard, where he received his master's degree the following year. During his time at Harvard, Edwards became involved with the Student League for Industrial Democracy headed by Norman Thomas, and worked for the organization for two years.

In 1936 Edwards came to Detroit, where he went to work in production at Kelsey-Hayes Wheel Company. It was there that he became involved with union organizing, participating in the strike at Kelsey-Hayes that year. In 1937 he became a UAW-CIO representative and directed their WPA-Welfare Department for the next two years.

In April of 1939 Edwards married Margaret McConnell. Their first son, George Clifton Edwards III, was born in 1940.

Appointed director of the Detroit Housing Commission by Mayor Edward Jeffries that same year, Edwards played a large role in the construction of the Herman Gardens Housing Project. In 1941 he ran successfully for a seat on the Detroit Common Council. He served four terms on the Council, two as its president. Part of that time was served in absentia, as Edwards enlisted in the United States Army in 1943 and served until 1946. In 1944, while still in the military service, Edwards received his law degree from the Detroit College of Law and celebrated the birth of his son James.

Upon his discharge from the army, Edwards went into private practice in Detroit with attorney Theodore Bohn. Bohn played a major role in Edwards' unsuccessful 1949 mayoral campaign. In 1950 the firm became Rothe, Marston, Edwards, and Bohn, but Edwards left it in 1951 when he became probate judge in Wayne County Juvenile Court. In 1954 he became a judge in Wayne County Circuit Court, and from 1956 to 1962 served as a justice of the Michigan Supreme Court. In 1962 he returned to Detroit to serve as police commissioner and a year later was appointed to the Sixth Circuit U.S. Court of Appeals from which he retired as an active judge.

Judge Edwards co-authored The Law of Criminal Correction with Sol Rubin, Henry Weihofin and Simon Rosenzweig. He also wrote a biography of his father, Pioneer at Law.

History

See Parts 1-3.

Scope and Content:

Material in part IV covers a wide range of years, from George Edwards, Jr.'s service in the military in the mid 1940's until his death, in 1995, with some post 1995 items. Included are manuscript material and reviews of Pioneer at law, written by Edwards and published in 1974, and documents and correspondence relating to publications about him after his death. Correspondence ranges from early personal letters, from his time in the military, with friends, service personnel, his wife, and family members to correspondence throughout his career, especially pertaining to his service as Police Commissioner of Detroit, 1962 to 1963, and his nomination to the Sixth Judicial Circuit of the United States in 1963 by President John F. Kennedy. Edwards' papers also contain correspondence and writings, speeches, and presentations before professional organizations, particularly the Anglo-American Justice Team, the National News Council, the National Council on Crime and Delinquency, and the South African Project. Issues of special interest to him included organized crime, free press and free trial, and in particular, the trial of Sam Sheppard. When Edwards died from complications of Alzheimer's and Parkinson's disease at the age of 80, his family received many letters of condolence and memorial tributes from friends and prominent political figures from all over the country. These comprise the post 1995 material. Oversize materials include sketches, scrapbooks, certificates, a map, and military apparel.

Series XII: Personal, 1930s-2001

Correspondence: to and from his wife, Peg, beginning during his military service and throughout the rest of his life; to military personnel and business associates regarding his ideas for an improved infantry tank; with his father, George Clifton Edwards; and with and about his children. Military and educational records, letters of condolence upon his death in 1995, various obituaries and ensuing memorials. His sketches of proposed infantry tank designs that he sent to Walter Reuther and military personnel, and various military apparel and artifacts, are included in Series XVII.

Series XIII: Career, 1940s-1990s

General business correspondence that follows his career chronologically, documentation of his election to and service on the Detroit Common Council, and official ceremonies as Judge of the Michigan Supreme Court. Many notes and statements, particularly related to organized crime, records of incidents, and questionnaires surveying public opinion of the Detroit Police Department. Includes correspondence with Robert F. Kennedy in regard to his nomination to the Sixth Judicial Circuit and also in regard to his fear of demise by organized crime figures. Many letters of congratulation and thank you's regarding nomination to the Sixth Judicial Circuit of the United States and subsequent Senate hearings, his Ten Year celebration, trip to the Philippines in 1968, and retirement. Scrapbooks of clippings documenting his service as Detroit Police Commissioner are included in Series XVII.

Series XIV: Professional Activities, 1962-1985

Correspondence, writings, position statements, memorandums, and agendas of meetings or conferences in regard to professional organizations. These organizations include Anglo-American Justice Team, National Council on Crime and Delinquency, and the Southern Africa Project. Speeches and presentations given by George Edwards, Jr. specific to these organizations are included.

Series XV: Writings, 1950s-2000

Articles, eulogies, commencement speeches, a photocopy of the manuscript for Pioneer at law, and many other speeches and presentations written by George Edwards, Jr. and given before a variety of organizations other than those in Series XIV. Many titles are included in the Index of Speeches. Correspondence and notes related to these speeches and presentations are included. Only annotated reference materials have been kept with the speeches and presentations. Notes, favorite quotes, and jokes are also included.

Series XVI: Clippings, 1930s-2001

Clippings about George Edwards, Jr. Photocopies of some photographs.

Series XVII: Oversize, 1940s-1990

A variety of materials and formats such as scrapbooks filled with clippings from Edwards' service as Detroit Police Commissioner, military attire, date books, children's notes to Peg, wartime sketches by Edwards of his proposed infantry tank designs, certificates of honor, and campaign materials.

Series XVIII: Publications, 1950s-1990s

Pamphlets, articles, reports, newsletters, commentaries, small government and professional publications, and reviews either about George Edwards, Jr. or by him. Histories of Hickman County, Tennessee.
