History

Edward Connor was born in Chicago in 1908. After graduating from high school, he worked for two years in a foundry and was a member of the hod carriers' union. In 1930, he graduated from Notre Dame University, and in 1935 he received a law degree from that institution. In August, 1935, he accepted an appointment with the Public Works Administration as County Supervisor of Adult Education for Gary, Indiana. In July, 1938, he was appointed Chief of the Community Service Section in the Chicago Regional Office. He directed projects in adult education and recreation. In March, 1940, he was promoted to Regional Supervisor of the Public Activities Section. He directed programs in adult and in workers' education in six states - Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Ohio, and West Virginia. In April, 1941, he was appointed Chief of the War Public Services Division. He made analyses of community needs in the service field, determined their war connection and reviewed the financial ability of the local government administration to meet its needs without a Federal contribution. In 1943, he worked in the Chicago regional office of the War Manpower Commission.

In 1943, Connor was appointed Executive Director of the Citizens Housing and Planning Council of Detroit, a private agency supported by labor and industry to develop a better metropolitan community. He served in this position until 1948.

In 1948, he was elected to the Detroit Common Council and served for a continuous period until 1966. In 1954, he was elected to the Wayne County Board of Supervisors and served as its Chairman from 1954 until 1958. In 1954, the supervisors Inter-County Committee was formed through which the Board of Supervisors of Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Monroe, Washtenaw and St. Clair Counties dealt with metropolitan area problems. He served as its first Chairman until 1958 and was re-elected Chairman in 1964. In 1966, he was elected as a judge on the Michigan Recorder's Court. Soon after the opening of the 1967 session, Edward Connor died in February, 1967.

Besides serving on the Detroit Council and on the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, Connor held other important positions. In 1947, he was appointed to the Executive Committee of the Detroit Metropolitan Regional Planning Commission. In 1955, he was appointed a Director of the Michigan State Association of Supervisors, and later he was elected as Chairman. In 1958, he was named Secretary of the Southeastern Michigan Metropolitan Community Research Corporation, an organization financed by the Ford Foundation to conduct development programs for the Detroit metropolitan area. In 1959, he was appointed a Director of the National Association of County Officials. In 1959, he was appointed by President Eisenhower to the Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations. In 1961, he was appointed as a member of the Citizens' Advisory Committee on Local Government. In 1963, he was invited by the Surgeon General of the United States to be a member of the Advisory Committee on Urban Health Affairs, and was appointed to the National Advisory Environmental Health Committee of the United States Public Health Service.
