Part 1

The papers of Wade H. McCree, Jr. were placed in the Archives of Labor and Urban Affairs between 1977 and 1989 by Judge McCree and his wife, Dores McCrary McCree, and were opened for research in July of 1998. Additional papers were placed in the Archives in December of 2004 and opened for research in May of 2005. Additional material was donated to the Reuther Library by Sarah Lewis on September 6, 2013 and opened for research in 2014.

Wade Hampton McCree, Jr. was born in Des Moines on July 3, 1920, the second child of the first black proprietors of a pharmacy in the state of Iowa. In the 1920's, his father went to work for the federal government as a narcotics inspector. His assignments took the family first to Hilo, Hawaii, then to Chicago, and finally to Boston, where Wade, Jr. attended Boston Latin School, America's oldest public school. He worked his way through Fisk University, his parents' alma mater, but his studies at Harvard Law School, which he had entered on scholarship after graduating from Fisk in 1941, were interrupted by World War II. During the war he served with the 92nd Infantry Division in Italy and after his discharge as a captain in 1946, he married Dores McCrary, a library science student at Simmons College in Boston and a native of Ecorse, Michigan. Two years later he earned his law degree and moved his family to Detroit to join the firm of Harold E. Bledsoe and Hobart Taylor.

In 1952, Wade McCree was appointed by Michigan Governor G. Mennen Williams to the state's Workmen's Compensation Commission and in 1954 to a vacancy on the Wayne County Circuit Court. He won election to the unexpired term in 1955, the first African American elected to a court of record in Michigan, and to a full six-year term in 1959. In 1961 President Kennedy appointed Judge McCree to the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan, where he served until his appointment in 1966 to the U.S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals. He resigned from that court in 1977 to accept appointment as U.S. Solicitor General in the Carter administration.

As an appeals court judge, McCree took part in a number of school desegregation cases in Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee, the states in his circuit, and issued important opinions in Stifel v. Hopkins (1973), Environmental Defense Fund v. Tennessee Valley Authority (1972) and U.S. v. Griffin (1970). As the government's lawyer, he argued a number of significant cases before the Supreme Court, most notably the Bakke reverse discrimination lawsuit against the University of California at Davis. In 1981 he accepted appointment as Lewis M. Simes Professor of Law at the University of Michigan, where he taught until his death on August 30, 1987. During these years he also consulted on various cases and served as Special Master for the U.S. Supreme Court in cases in which it exercised original jurisdiction.

Judge McCree's professional, educational, civic and charitable activities were legion. To name a few: He was a Trustee of Fisk University and a Harvard University Overseer, Chairman and co-founder of the Higher Education Opportunities Committee for financially-disadvantaged Michigan high school students, a founding Trustee of the Friends School in Detroit, a founding member of the UAW Public Review Board, Vice Moderator of the Unitarian Universalist Association, Board member of the Community Health Association of Detroit, founding member of the Federal Judicial Center Board, member of the American Bar Association Advisory Council on Appellate Justice, Fellow of the American Bar Foundation and Director of the American Judicature Society. He was the recipient of numerous honors and awards, including the Fordham-Stein Award for his "talent, professionalism and nobility of spirit" and honorary Doctor of Laws degrees from Harvard, the University of Pennsylvania and Howard University, among many others.

The Wade H. McCree, Jr. Collection contains his personal and professional correspondence, speeches and writings, voluminous case files, including his notes and opinions, meeting minutes, publications and other material relating to Judge McCree's service on the bench and as the federal government's chief lawyer as well as his work on professional committees and his involvement with a wide range of civic, fraternal and charitable organizations.

RESEARCHERS USING THIS COLLECTION MUST SIGN A RESTRICTED USE FORM. NO NAMES APPEARING IN THE FBI FILE OTHER THAN THAT OF WADE H. McCREE, JR. MAY BE CITED WITHOUT THE WRITTEN CONSENT OF THE INDIVIDUAL NAMED AND NO UNPUBLISHED MATERIAL IN RESTRICTED FILES MAY BE COPIED.

Abstract

See Part 1 for biographical information.

Part 2 of the Wade R. McCree, Jr. papers contains family and personal correspondence, newspaper clippings and articles, journals, travel information, and photographs.

Important Subjects:

African American judges
African American law students
African American lawyers
African Americans--Education--Michigan--Detroit
Appellate procedure--United States

Arrangement:

Folders are simply listed by their location within each box. They are not arranged, so any given subject may be dispersed throughout several boxes.

Non-manuscript material:

Box 87 was transferred to the Reuther's audiovisual department and contains items from Part 1 and Part 2. This box contains videotapes of speaking events, audiotapes of a symposium on the Bakke case in which Judge McCree participated, numerous tribute tapes, and academic lectures, as well as recordings of speeches, a compact disc of award photographs, and negatives.
