Abstract:	Harriet Berg (born 1924) was a choreographer, teacher, performer, and arts advocate in the Detroit area for many decades. Her papers reflect her interests in all aspects of dance and other performing and fine arts, including material on a wide variety of dance companies and individual dancers, local, national and international. Some of the papers reflect her personal life as well as that of her family members. Part 1 includes materials on many aspects of dance and other performing and fine arts, as well as her personal family life. Part 2 reflects Berg's work as director of the Renaissance Dance Company and Madame Cadillac Dance Theater, as well as her work with the Jewish Community Center and Camp Maas. Also included are materials relating to dance history, Isadora Duncan, local, state and national dance schools, dance programs, as well as artwork and publications relating to dance. Part 3 is a continuation of these topics and includes a collection of photographs and audiovisual materials including vinyl albums, videotapes, and audiotapes. Part 4 contains many documents, scrapbooks and photos on Berg's dance companies at the JCC, especially the Festival Dancers and Young Dancers Guild, as well as classes and events there. There are also materials on summer dance camps at Camp Maas and Camp Tamarack, along with various conferences. AV materials include DVDs, video and 2 films.

History

Harriet Berg, born Harriet Jean Waratt in Detroit in 1924, was a choreographer, teacher, performer, and arts advocate in the Detroit area for many decades. She received a B.A. in Art Education and M.A. in Humanities from Wayne State University and also studied dance in New York City. Berg taught at Wayne State University beginning in the 1950s and established a long-running dance program at the Jewish Community Center of Metropolitan Detroit and at its Camp Tamarack. Other teaching positions included Burton School in Detroit and the Bloomfield Hills (Michigan) Academy, as well as the Connecticut College Summer School of Dance and the Perry-Mansfield Dance-Drama School in Colorado. Berg was the director of the Festival Dancers and the Young Dancers Guild at the Jewish Community Center and directed and performed with the Renaissance Dance Company and the Madame Cadillac Dancers, both companies specializing in historical dance. In addition to her teaching and dancing, Berg served as a member and dance committee chair for the Michigan Council of the Arts, the Detroit Council for the Arts, the Detroit Adventure Planning Project, the Michigan Foundation for the Arts and the Detroit Metropolitan Dance Project. Her choreographed dances comprise an extensive list and were inspired by folk tales and songs, Americana, Jewish and Israeli folk themes, French history and other historical sources. Harriet Berg's mentorship of dancers and dance companies, as well as her championing of the arts in Detroit and Michigan, is legendary. She is the founder of the Michigan Dance Archives at the Walter P. Reuther Library at Wayne State University.
